

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Paperlight launches: write a book for free and format it for print and ebook in the browser 115 book styles, 478 drawn ornaments and a built-in proofread, for $12 a year. No account, no uploads, no AI writing.

[CITY, STATE] , [DATE] – Paperlight, a new book formatting tool for self-publishing authors, launched today. Writers bring the Word manuscript they already have, or write their book in Paperlight's free writing desk, and come away with a print-ready PDF for Amazon KDP, IngramSpark, Barnes & Noble Press, Lulu or Bookvault, and an EPUB ebook for every store.

Formatting is the step between finishing a manuscript and holding a book, and it is where many self-published books still look homemade. Paperlight reads a manuscript the way a human formatter would: it finds the chapters and scene breaks, fixes spacing and punctuation slips, and sets every page to the printer's rules, from trim size and margins to page numbers and the spine. The whole book is laid out live, page for page, so writers see exactly what will print before they pay for anything.

Writers choose from 115 ready-made book styles, from literary fiction to epic fantasy, Old English blackletter, Celtic, script, romance, sci-fi and web novels, or design their own with a full style editor, 91 fonts (or their own), ornamental initials and a library of 478 drawn ornaments: dragons, ravens, rose windows, Celtic knotwork, filigree corners, starships and more. A Proofread step lists possible misspellings and repeated words for the writer to decide on; Paperlight never rewrites their words.

" [A QUOTE FROM YOU: why you built Paperlight, in one or two sentences.] " said [YOUR NAME] , founder of Paperlight. " [A SECOND LINE: who it's for, or what you hope writers do with it.] "

Paperlight runs in the browser on any computer and keeps every manuscript on the writer's own machine: nothing is uploaded, and no account is needed to start. Writing, the preview, every style and ebooks are free. Print-ready files, printer packs, large print, hardcover, box sets, review copies and free samples are $12 a year.
